An Optional Benefit Available with Pacific Life Variable Annuities

Why a Variable Annuity

A variable annuity is a long-term contract between you and an insurance company that helps you grow, protect, and manage retirement savings in a tax-advantaged way. It can provide:

- Protected monthly lifetime income so that you have money for as long as you live.
- Protection against market loss through optional benefits that help minimize downside risk.
- Tax-deferred growth so that your money grows faster through the power of compounding.
- Flexible access to your money should you need it for the unexpected.
- Protection for your loved ones if you pass away.

Designed for Downside Protection with Growth Potential

With a Pacific Life variable annuity and Investment Guard optional living benefit, you and your financial professional can create a retirement strategy that helps you:

- Address cost concerns with a longer investment time horizon.
- Develop an investment allocation that fits your individual needs by diversifying among a broad range of investment options.
- Choose a downside protection strategy that best meets your needs.

Variable annuities are long-term investments designed for retirement. Annuity withdrawals and other distributions of taxable amounts, including beneficiary payouts, will be subject to ordinary income tax. For nonqualified contracts, an additional 3.8% federal tax may apply on net investment income. If withdrawals and other distributions are taken prior to age 59½, an additional 10% federal income tax may apply. A withdrawal charge also may apply. Withdrawals will reduce the contract value and the value of the beneficiary benefits, and also may reduce the value of any optional benefits.

Guarantees, including optional benefits, are subject to the issuing company's claims-paying ability and financial strength and do not protect the value of the variable investment options, which are subject to market risk.

- The optional benefit will automatically terminate on the fifth, seventh, or tenth contract anniversary. After the end of the term, the contract will be without the protection of the optional benefit. You may purchase another benefit, subject to availability, current price, and current terms.
- The optional benefit will terminate as a result of not being 100% allocated according to the investment allocation requirements.
- The optional benefit will terminate when a beneficiary benefit becomes payable under the contract or at the end of the term if the surviving spouse elects to continue the contract in accordance with its terms.
- A change in ownership on the contract may terminate the optional benefit.

Note: Once the contract is issued, the optional benefit cannot be removed as a result of verbal or written communication. A beneficiary benefit is referred to as a death benefit in the prospectus.

- Buffer amount: An amount equal to the buffer percentage multiplied by the protected base.
- Additional amount: At the end of the term, the additional amount is equal to the lesser of the difference between the protected base and the contract value or the buffer amount.

Under current law, a nonqualified annuity that is owned by an individual is generally entitled to tax deferral. IRAs and qualified plans—such as 401(k)s and 403(b)s—are already tax-deferred. Therefore, a deferred annuity should be used only to fund an IRA or qualified plan to benefit from the annuity's features other than tax deferral. These include lifetime income, beneficiary benefit options, and the ability to transfer among investment options without sales or withdrawal charges.

Investment Guard is name "Guaranteed Minimum Accumulation Benefit" in the contract rider.

DCA does not ensure a profit or protect against loss in declining markets. You should consider your financial ability to continue to invest, even when prices are low; in continually rising markets, there is a potential to end up with fewer units.

Each insurance company is solely responsible for the financial obligations accruing under the products it issues.
